To Whom It May Concern,

I am writing to say that the Willamette Superfund Clean Up needs to do more.

The plan only covers a tiny portion of the river and the area that needs to be dredged. Hundreds of acres of contaminated sediment need to be cleaned up, not just a fraction of the area. People and wildlife need to have water that is clean enough to eat the fish that swim in the area: they cant' do that now. This river belongs to all the people of Portland, not just the corporate entities that use it for transportation.

Please consider beefing up the proposed plan to have a more thorough clean up process.

Sincerely,
